

How long is your delivery time?

Contributed by Web master
Wednesday, 12 May 2004
Last Updated Tuesday, 08 April 2008

With in stock items we ship typically within the following week. So a two week turn around is average. Some items with options will take a bit longer.

Delivery time is dependent on your location and how we ship your item. Most items will be shipped USPS, with those that can be fit in a flat rate box being shipped for $10 with delivery confirmation. Taking an average of 3 to 5 days within the US, typically this is the least expensive way to ship, especially for multiple kits, but lacks the ability to track the items. With items that cant go flat rate, we will opt for either USPS or UPS with tracking. For international shipments we use USPS with the option of ground or airmail, we will get quotes for both so you may choose. Airmail is typically more than twice the cost of ground but takes weeks instead of days. Contact us for spacific information.